cold-ness, I see my emp-ti-ness, I know the pov-er-ty with-in my soul:
grieve you or to re-sist you, but that's the ve-ry thing I seem to do.
o-ceans are full of wa-ter, and as the sun is full of wond-rous light, my pray'r-less pray-ers, my praise less prai-ses that show I I see so dim-ly what's rich in glo-ry; I serve as know so lit-tle of my Lord. O Spi-rit, come and give me eyes to see di-if I have no rea-son to. O Spi-rit, come as pow-er, ba-nish re-bel heart and mind be full of you! O Spi-rit, come as beau-ti-fi-er, bring-ing vine re-al-ities; truth in full-ness, come and teach me. O Spi-rit, thoughts and reign su-preme; come and mould me to your word. O Spi-rit, love-li-ness to life from my cha-os, my con-fu-sion, O Spi-rit, come and warm my heart to praise the One who died for me; show me come as sanc-ti-fi-er, ma-king ev'-ry-thing I am de-di-come as help-er, strong to bless and keep and be my guide; lift my
